

Amir Zadpoor

TU Delft

Prof. Zadpoor obtained his PhD (cum laude) from Delft University of Technology in 2010 and started his career at the same university as Assistant Professor (2010) and later as Associate Professor (2014) and Professor (2017). At Delft University of Technology, Amir Zadpoor is Antoni van Leeuwenhoek Distinguished Professor, the Chaired Professor of Biomaterials & Tissue Biomechanics, and the founding director of the Additive Manufacturing Laboratory. Prof. Zadpoor has received many awards including an ERC grant, a Vidi grant, a Veni grant, the Jean Leray award of the European Society of Biomaterials, and the Early Career Award of JMBBM.

Amir Zadpoor:

Antoni van Leeuwenhoek Professor, TU Delft
Chaired Prof of Biomaterials & Tissue Biomechanics, TUDelft
Professor of Orthopedics, Leiden University Medical Center
Director of the Additive Manufacturing Lab
Director of Biomedical Engineering Education